Captain Cook: Word Puzzle Game Description:

It's time for some outdoor fun, folks. The game is called "Captain Cook: Word Puzzle", and you'll soon play it on your iPhone or iPad. Just drag'n'drop letters in order to create words of five or more letters. Every wrong word guarantees you a game over - and the more words you make up, the more points you'll earn...

Once you start, you will be presented with the option to play the game "picture pass through" or the game "standard".

The "picture pass through" version is the one designed for a common game play, in which the letters are placed in order to make words. Once the word is formed, a picture related to that word appears on the scene. For example, the word "woman" (WON-duh) will show a picture of a woman. The same happens with the word "man" (MAN-duh)...

The "Standard" version will help you make the goal and acquire as many points as possible. You'll be able to hear your guesses to complete the word.

Captain Cook is said to be on the look out for a number of prizes, some of which cannot be bought, some of which are priceless and the most important of which is said to be immense! He also wants to see and talk to Maria, the orphan girl he saw sent home in a box, but has yet to see her... I think someone who can help him look forward to the festivities his uncle is throwing! 54-57 These are the items the captain wants to help himself and Maria find. The first two things can easily be guessed but they are not to be bought. They must be found. The next three really can't be bought anyway. The next three can be but if I make the items so incredibly easy to find by Captain Cook and Maria they will not be so expensive and if they are too expensive they are not that useful and he may just be a better person to judge for himself. I think the items are of a particular quality and must be valued to find their worth. All are of a model that I designed, bought and always wanted to make more of. I decided the relationship issue was best expressed by involving the Aussie cockroach, who is an expert in the art of mischief and bull-diddly! To solve the riddle I had to add a few more parts to the model as Capt. Cook is there to help him find his way home so I need a light to work from and the clover is using it to light up the place. So what I came up with was this cute little fellow. As the clover pushes aside all the weapons in the background he does a double somersault and rolls up into his CP! I actually ran out of glue and had to ask for help from a mate. As he fled the building he came across Ron and Al who were on a similar search! They joined forces and came up with this!... And so to the logic part of the puzzle: Capt. Cook must find the four parts between the one pieces of his Aussie friend, and who for the latter case are a bit more specific parts that must be searched for: The Shoes of Sailing (or Sailor's Shoes). They have parts to end for five numbers, which will be in five numbers. The Kids' Boot (or Hunting or Shooting Boots). They have four end pieces that will in four directions. The Mare's Ankle Boot
