Malwarebytes Premium 3.2.2.2018 Keygen.1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates generally to orthopedic devices, and more particularly to a surgical device for correcting the lumbar and thoracic spine for an abnormal curvature, including scoliosis, kyphosis and lordosis. 2. Description of the Related Art A variety of systems are available to correct the curvature of the spine for spinal fusion. One of the most commonly used procedures is the CDA Stand-Alone Spinal System. This system involves a sophisticated instrumentation and a long and tedious procedure. The complicated instrumentation is used to correct the curvature of the spine for spinal fusion. The procedure for correcting scoliosis is long and tedious, and many patients have complications of infections and neuropathies. Another spinal system is a rigid system that involves a linear actuator and the shape memory properties of titanium alloy rods that are inserted into the intervertebral spaces. This system is designed to correct for a lordotic or straight spine, but not for kyphotic or scoliotic curvatures. Another type of rigid spinal system involves the mounting of rods between adjacent vertebrae via pedicle screws and formanication connectors. Such a system employs movable rods and a plurality of screws that are inserted in the pedicle of the spinal vertebrae. Such
