The movie deserves consideration for the "Kid Emotion" movement. But, after the baby-pushing nature of the first half, the show finally settles in during an epic showdown in the Mexican jungles. For the rest of this season, the "Must See TV" award will go to the following shows; "Killer Klowns from Outer Space", "The Shootout at Wadala", "New Orleans", and "Ice Road Truckers". The other nominees are "The Waterboy" (the Final Four), "Rules of Engagement" (the Semi-Final Four), "Futurama" (the Champion), and "Crash". Overall, "The Middle" is a talented show with nothing funny about it. It does remind me a little of "The Jeffersons" (or at least, Larry and Camille as George and Louise), but that's about it. It seems the "Middle" family would have made more sense in a time machine from the 20s, as they still live in Mike's parents' house. I wonder if Chachi and his wife will now be part of the family. The Main Characters: Paulie 1 and 2: The husbands of Denise and Mimi, Paulie's mom is very good looking, and he's pretty bland. Both have a good poker face for their wives. Denise (née Vernice): The wife of Paulie 1. Mimi's best friend, Denise is a tomboy. Mimi: The wife of Paulie 2. Denise's best friend. Mike (Matthew, Mark & Luke): Mike is the very bland son of Denise and Paulie 1. Mark and Luke are twin brothers and Mike's age. Mark is the hot one. Richard: Richard is everyone's buddy. He's Denise's boss at The Cheesecake Factory and Chachi's former boss. Carl: Carl is a kid in college who just moved into the Levines' neighborhood. He's the only person the Levines ever ask for advice about anything. Chachi (
