Q: scala closed set as an example of a subset of scalaz' Monoid scala closed set as an example of a subset of scalaz' Monoid
I was thinking about the following lines in scalaz :
scala> import scalaz._ import scalaz._ scala> def closed(sc: ScalazScope) = (u: ScalazScope) => { new Monoid[List[U]](op=u ._suc) } scala> def infinite(sc: ScalazScope) = (u: ScalazScope) => { new Set[U] } scala> closed(sc).map(closed(sc)) is sameAs(infinite(sc)) :9: error: value sameAs is not a member of scala.Predef closed(sc).map(closed(sc)) is sameAs(infinite(sc)) ^ why are they not same (as for scalaz, closed form an infinite set which is an example of the iteration)

A Iceland's Sveinn Björnsson returns to Liverpool as the Reds prepare for a testing clash with Wolves Liverpool are set to welcome back a familiar face in Sveinn Björnsson. The Icelandic midfielder was named on the bench for the Anfield clash with Aston Villa on New Year's Eve - and he's now expected to make his debut in the FA Cup at Wolves on Friday. Iceland's Sveinn Björnsson in action for Liverpool against Villa Björnsson has had a frustrating time at Anfield after joining from Leicester City in the summer. He has made just two Premier League appearances and has featured in both cup competitions for Liverpool, where he was an unused substitute in the Car
