Utilization of beta-2-microglobulin purified from human serum by human lymphoma cells in culture. Soluble forms of beta-2-microglobulin (beta-2M) were isolated from human serum of leukemic patients by immunoabsorption with specific monoclonal antibody-coated erythrocyte derived liposomes, followed by gel filtration with Sephadex G-200. The material proved to be a mixture of molecular species, which were separated by ion exchange chromatography on DEAE-cellulose. The beta-2M of the purified preparation was in the appropriate conformation to stimulate cytotoxic lymphocytes (CTL). Cytotoxic activity was found to be associated with beta-2M alpha monomers, which represented a portion (20 to 30%) of the whole molecule. When beta-2M was added to human lymphoma cells (YT-H), T-cell-dependent antibody-dependent cell-mediated cytotoxicity (ADCC) was induced. Neither of the other two monomeric species of beta-2M (beta-2M beta and beta-2M alpha 2) showed this capacity. Similar results were obtained when beta-2M purified from normal human serum was added. The ability of beta-2M purified from both neoplastic and normal sera to induce ADCC was demonstrated by the use of various concentrations of the molecule in the assay. The presence of serum factors was further ascertained by the direct in vitro addition of culture media of normal lymphocytes to the effector cells. These results show that beta-2M purified from human sera is effective as a CTL inducer and may be useful in transplantation or other immunotherapies where specific CTL activity is desired.Q: Will all three initial conditions which the system has three variables) or the three possible states in which the system m

In other words, this one is the best of the four. . Mamma mia by Lucio Dalla. It was the most popular rock song from the seven or eight million albums that it appeared on. It was a massive hit in the UK and Europe and the song was a top ten hit in both the US. But it was to one of its lyrics, in particular a line from the song, â€□l' m an innocent child/l' m going to find my mamma miaâ€□, where The Kinks' Pete Meaden heard that line which he and The Kinks' Ray Davies, who wrote the
