I can't use UNION, because i need the results in a different order in the same table. I also can't use the "NATURAL JOIN" because it is deprecated. I currently just select all columns from every table and then only select the id from the first table. But i need all the info from all the tables. Is there any way to do this? A: You can use union all to combine the two sql statements together SELECT * FROM db1.table1 a JOIN db2.table2 b UNION ALL SELECT * FROM db1.table2 c JOIN db2.table1 d Reference A: LEFT JOIN sounds like what you want. The basic idea is: SELECT all the columns you need from table1 SELECT all the columns you need from table2 Join those two tables by using the
