to obtain a dhcp address, the primary cisco asa needs to be configured to obtain a dhcp address and assign it to the interface. for instructions on how to obtain a dhcp address, refer to the documentation or the firewall configuration guide. download the image. cisco asa configuration assistant can be run as a windows service or as a console application. cisco asa configuration assistant provides a wizard-based setup that provides common functions such as the initial configuration, restart, restart and upgrade, shutdown, failover, syslog, and full configuration. to install the asa image, we need to have an empty directory for the install. therefore, create the directory c:\program files (x86)\asa. later, we will create the sub-directories in it. note: once the asa image is installed, you can copy it to another directory if required. dhingra has been working with cisco's global security team for the past year. he is leading the development of this framework, which provides a framework for identifying potential ai risks, developing ai capabilities, and assessing the risks and benefits of applying ai technologies. this framework will also address the ethics, societal, economic, and environmental issues surrounding ai. this framework will help you determine if you need to deploy ai technologies in your business, and what level of ai you need to use. with the iot, the network and the cloud are going to be the foundation. it's also going to be a seamless network that is designed to be the edge. the edge is where it all happens and the edge will define the user experience. this will be a world of intelligent edge computing. cisco is exploring how to bring together the edge, iot, cloud and networks to create a networked world that is the most valuable technology it can be. iot and the edge will drive a new wave of business value. read more about the edge in our iot-solutions-edge-intelligence. 5ec8ef588b
