Using Siemens NX8.5 to model a plate with holes using expressions, feature recognition with FBM in CAM. I can't get the value of the hole after creating the plate when I click on it. I can't use the template as it is by default. If I create a hole and after that I click on it, then the value is displayed and works. It looks like you are using the Siemens NX library. But when using Siemens NX expressions, you get a lot more power. You can use functions in an NX expression to create geometry. Below is a detailed description. In general.
